

One tree at a time

McKinleyville-based Cutting Edge Tree Service and Solutions will be donating 300 native redwood trees to community members for Humboldt Green Week, which is being held all over at various events in the county from April 13 -21. "As a certified arborist, and a forestry major I am very conscious of trees and the environment," said Owner Erik Tjossem (left), pictured here with main crew member Steve Bagley. "We do remove trees as a part of our services, and donating these trees to be replanted is our way of preserving our natural resources and riches for future generations."

For more information on Cutting Edge Tree Service, visit <http://www.cuttingedgetree.com>.

JOHN CHIV/FOR THE TIMES-STANDARD

April 3, 2013